WHAT A "GAL"

Please inform Dick DeBartolo that his "Gal Of Me" was perfect except for the title. He should have called it "Gaul Of Me" for having the "gaul" to make it better than the movie!

Brett Angus
Bedford, MA

My left side abhorred "Gal Of Me" but my right side loved it. Perhaps that is because I've been diagnosed as schizophrenic, although I'm not—and neither am I! Excuuuuuuuuuse me!

A REAL DOG OF A LETTER

Your "Things You Can Do For Your Dog On His Birthday" really hit me in the funny-BONE. It was DOG-gone funny. It made me HOWL with delight and BARK with laughter. Kee-PUP the good work!

Sami Fialkoff
Brooklyn, NY

Your BITING letter RABIE a bit RUFF but it did give us a new LEASH on life. POODLE-OO!—Ed.

HAMMER IN THE SLAMMER

I like Sam Viviano's art on "Mike Hammy" in MAD #255. Now, how about giving him a story he can finish?

Steve Haynie
Easley, SC

Your satire on Mike Hammer was just great. Hey! Maybe you'll do a sequel in 10-20 (years)!

Thank you for printing this letter. If you didn't print this letter thank you for considering it. If you didn't consider it thank you for reading it. If you didn't read it, thank you for at least putting your hands on it. If you didn't even put your grimy little hands on it, who the hell needs you schmucks?

Every now and then movie-makers become fascinated with stories that show different cultures in conflict, such as "A Passage To India" contrasting life in India with English Colonial culture. Another recent film shows the difference between two ways of thinking! Only this one illustrates the difference that exists in the audience! The chasm divides the simple minded from the astute. MAD classifies the first group as the...

WITLESS

I imagine the strange German dialect you speak keeps you apart from other strangers!

It also keeps us apart from other Amish!

Why is that?

We speak it but we don't understand it!

Why are we conducting a search party?

We are looking for a missing man—Harrison Ford!

The movie's been on fifteen minutes without a sign of him!

...and if we show any more scenes of waving fields of grain and simple country folk, this is going to turn into one of those National Geographic specials!

WRITER: STAN HART

Officer Boob, we want to go home!

Sorry, but you'll have to stay a while! Your kid was peeking in the toilet! That makes him two things; one, a potential witness...

And the other?

A potential pervert!

...and please protect us, our dear Lord!

Do you always say that prayer before you eat?

Only in fast food places, Officer Boob!

This man was the killer you saw in the bathroom?

Yes, Officer Boob!

Detective McWeewee! That's awful! Do you know what this does to his chances of being "Officer of the Year" twice in a row?

I know there's a stiff penalty for not leaving keys in your car in a parking lot like this, but these attendants are getting ridiculous! Hey, that's no attendant—that's McWeewee, detective turned defective! Since the only one I told about him was the Chief, they must both be in on the murder!

BLAM
BLAM!!

I've got to get both of you out of here! You're in danger!

Are you hurt? You look bad...

Oh yeah? Well you look like "second place" in the Brooke Shields Eyebrow Contest, so I wouldn't talk if I were you!

What can we do about Officer Boob's bullet wounds, Zeb? You know some miraculous home remedies...

Something this serious calls for my strong chicken soup!

You're just like my Jewish grandmother!

Well, not exactly!

I will be your nurse and help you to regain your health!

Have you ever done this before?

Only for my husband!

How long did it take him to recover?

I don't know! We're still waiting!

Why is the wounded police officer here?

Because the boy is in danger! If they find Detective Boob, they'll also find the boy!

So why should he stay in the same house as the boy? Wouldn't it make more sense for them to be in separate houses?

I would imagine so, but what do we Amish know about making movies?

You must understand that we are very simple people who do not concern ourselves with others and who are totally removed from the modern world! You probably do not know anyone like us!

Yes, I do!
Who?

President Reagan!

Here is some lemonade I made! I am glad you are all healed so that you can enjoy it!

Well, almost healed!

The chief is in on the murder!

Maybe you should go to Washington and talk to the F.B.I. or tell the newspapers about it!

I've got a better plan! I won't tell anyone and I'll stay right here!

Where will that get you?

Into bed with a well-built widow!

People are talking about you and Boob!

I don't care!

But it might result in a "Shunning!" Then, when you speak, even though someone may listen, he will not answer you or talk to you or help you!

Hey, we have something like that in the outside world, too! We call it "Psychiatry!"

We appreciate your helping us with our building, Boob, but we worry that you may bring outside influences into our community!

You don't have to worry...

That's what you say!

Chief, I just heard you killed my partner, too!

Yeah, we had a spot open, so we filled it! We're gonna find you, Boob, and when we do...

No way! Here I'm as anonymous as an Amish farmer!

I never saw an Amish do anything like that!

Hey, everybody—look at this Amish dude go at it! What a fighter!

Boob, that's a witless thing to do if you want to be anonymous!

I feel so strange—Amish and horny at the same time!

But how?

What is it called?

This is wrong! We've got to stop...

In my world, we have a ritual that puts an end to sexual passion!

Marriage!

Remember, guys—we don't want to spare any victims we don't have to!

Right, Chief!

ARTIST: SERGIO ARAGONES

WRITER: FRANK JACOBS

"Sung to the tune of 'We Are The World'"

There was a time... that we barely can recall
When we flipped out at that great Wood-stock Fair,
Though you're sure to won-der
When you look at us today,
If... we... were... real-ly... ev-er... there.

Those days are gone... and we've found a brand-new cause,
Now it's big bucks that we groove, yes-sir-ee!
With our wives we're talk-in'
Stocks and bonds and pension plans—
What's... more—we... dig... the... G... O... P

we were the world!

We were the children!
We were the ones... who told off cops
and crooked poli-ti-cians,
But those kicks... we... got... then
Are nothin' like the thrill
We get... from braggin' what we paid
For our Seville.

Once we'd turn on, and get mellow from the high,
But the glow is for-got-ten and gone;
Today... we turn on... whatever's on TV,
Ain't no grass—ex-cept... what's... on... our... lawn.

we were the world!

We were the voices!
We were the ones... who burned the flag
and led a rev-o-lu-tion;
"Filthy punks," they called us,
It suited us just fine;
But now... we're suited by Bill Blass
And Calvin Klein.

Once our hair was long, and blowin' free and wild;
Now we pay thir-ty bucks to have it set and styled;
Hell, hell, hell—once we used to march... go stormin'
down the street
Now "The... Establishment's" real neat!
Yeah! Yeah! Yeah! Yeah!

we were the world!

We were the spirit!
We were the ones... who screamed for "Peace"
and hollered, "Screw the System!"
All the dreams we fought for—
They never came about,
Be-cause... some-where along the line
We all sold out.

CONNORS UPSETS McENROE Jimmy Leads In Product Endorsements

NEW YORK, A jubilant Jimmy Connors had reason to celebrate yesterday as he surpassed John McEnroe to again become the number one ranked player on the Professional Tennis Product Endorsement Circuit.

Connors, long time commercial spokesman for cameras, designer jeans, shaving cream and liquid bleach, was the undisputed champion until McEnroe gained notoriety and was asked to appear in ads for disposable razors, credit cards and sandwich bags. Fighting back from the unexpected losses of his breakfast cereal and antacid tablet accounts, the determined Connors struck three times yesterday, landing product endorsements for athlete's foot powder, life insurance and decaffeinated cola. The cola endorsement was particularly disturbing to McEnroe, who for years held a virtual lock in the soft drink category.

An incensed McEnroe says he will contest the ruling which scores his separate endorsements of Dorman's Swiss, Kraft Cheddar and Mafioso Romano as a single endorsement under the heading of "Cheese." Speaking with reporters, McEnroe said, "It's rulings like this that make a mockery of professional tennis."

Hockey Player Sets Record

PUCK HITS FACE
FOR 1,000TH TIME

HALIFAX, CANADA Halifax Eels defenseman, Gordie Thwack, made history last night when his nose got in the way of a blistering slapshot off the stick of New Brunswick's Wayne Bugchuck, making Gordie the first player ever to be hit in the face by a puck 1,000 times. Gordie, whose nose was broken for the 218th time (26th time this year), has also been hit 186 times in the jaw, 307 times in the mouth, and 289 times in the eyes (169 left, 120 right).

A short ceremony followed the injury, during which Gordie was awarded the puck. "This is the happiest day of my life," said a toothless Gordie, who was immediately rushed to Halifax Hospital for the 95th time this season. He received eight stitches, moving him into third place on Hockey's All-Time Stitch List.

NBA TEAMS REALIGNED

Hoopsters Don't Know Who To Play

SEATTLE, Players in the National Basketball Association are now considered the most bewildered athletes in the nation due to the realignment of teams as announced yesterday by Basketball Commissioner Nelson Chinski.

"We're all confused!" said Los Angeles Center Kareem Abdul Giraffe, whose team showed up last night at the Kingdome to play Seattle, only to find a rodeo in progress. The Seattle team thought they were scheduled to play against Dallas in Chicago, as did nine other teams.

Commissioner Chinski's realignment, which many believe is the cause of the recent trouble, is as follows:

- Milwaukee and Chicago were moved from the Western Conference's Midwestern Division to the Eastern Conference's Central Division.
- Houston and San Antonio were moved from the Eastern Conference's Southern Division to the Northeast Conference's West Central Division.

- The entire East Central Division was moved from the Southwest's Northern Conference to the North South's East-western Conference.
- Atlanta is now the only team in the Southern Conference's South Southern Division, and as a result, isn't scheduled to play anyone.

Commissioner Chinski told reporters, "Basketball is much more exciting now. Fans can never be sure if the teams will show up or where they'll be playing if they do. It's the best thing for the game."

YOU BE THE UMP

by Otto Skunk

In April of 1983, the Royals were playing the Angels in Anaheim, California. In the third inning, Kansas City third baseman, George Brett, hit a towering foul pop-up off pitcher Tommy John. First baseman Rod Carew attempted to make the catch while standing in foul territory. The ball hit his glove and landed in fair territory. Is the ball fair or foul? If you were the umpire, how would you call it?

Answer

If you were an umpire in April of 1983, you would have been on strike and walking a picket line outside of the stadium! You wouldn't have seen the play, and the only calls you'd be making would be for higher salaries and better benefits!

NEW FOOTBALL LEAGUE FORMED

WILL PLAY ALL GAMES DURING HALFTIMES

LOS ANGELES, At a press conference this morning, sports promoter Kelly Lemon announced the formation of the Halftime Football League (HTFL). Lemon said HTFL games will be played during the fifteen minute halftimes at all NFL and USFL games.

After appointing himself Commissioner, Lemon explained what he called the 'outstanding features' of the new league. "From opening kickoff to the final gun we'll have four action packed three minute quarters. We'll be able to charge fans for seeing two games instead of one and best of all, no one will have to sit through those incredibly boring halftimes shows anymore."

Each HTFL game will have a three minute halftime, during which the games of the soon-to-be-formed Three Minute Football League (TMFL) will be played.

Almost every airline flying today has a "Frequent Traveler Bonus Plan"—a system whereby regular passengers are given points for the miles they fly. Well, the folks here at MAD fly a lot, and often use airplanes to do it. But we don't think passengers should be given bonus points for the miles they fly, we think passengers should be given points for the hassles and aggravations they're forced to put up with! So, while we doubt this will ever get off the ground, here's

ONE GLORIOUS EVENING IN DEATH VALLEY

WRITER: ALAN ZWEIBEL

Isn't it great the way we start every episode with exterior scenes, shot on real New York streets. It adds such an authentic flavor to the show.

Not really! Walking down a New York street without stepping in doggie-do, being harassed by panhandlers, or smelling piles of rotting, garbage—that's authentic?

C'mon, we deserve a little suspension of disbelief! After all, we're not a typical sit-com!

Right! We're not one-dimensional. We're not predictable.

We're not funny!

Hmmm. Maybe we are a typical sitcom!

But whatever happens to us on the rocky road of divorced motherhood, we should always be grateful we've got each other.

That's for sure, 'cause neither one of us has enough charisma to sustain a series on our own!

I think we better head home for dinner. Ask that man what time it is.

My god! A citizen vigilante!

But she only wanted the time! We weren't going to mug you!

I know! You were going to bore me! I've seen you two in action before!

DIVORCE CAUGHT DEPT.

So begins a typical episode of a successful new television series about a "household of the '80s". In this house there are no fathers, just two divorced mothers and their three kids. These two single moms are competent, caring and very well adjusted to their "modern" living arrangement. Yes, they have a relationship that's very "today" and very "progressive" except that in a couple of key ways they're very traditional, which is why we call this show:

MATE & ALI-MONY

ARTIST: MORT DRUCKER

WRITER: DENNIS SNEE

What a day!

Hassles at the office?
No seats on the subway?

You got it. But the worst thing was when I had to pass a bunch of obnoxious construction workers!

They ogled and whistled?

Worse. They totally ignored me!

That obnoxious!

So how were things at home today?

The usual whining, and pouting and childishness.

Kids were tough, huh?

I'm talking about me! Haven't you noticed those three things are my only emotions?

I thought you acted that way because your ex-husband, Charless, got custody of your personality in the divorce settlement!

I MISS YOU, HANE! Chico

Hi Charless, this is Allimony. I just want to let you know you can pick up the kids Wednesday at six. Bye.

I hate talking to those things!

Phone answering machines?

No, boring ex-husbands! That was Charless! Compared to him, a phone answering machine is a laugh a minute!

POTS POT POTRZEBIE

Mate, I'm worried about Emmy and Jetty. I think our attitude toward men is having a bad effect on them.

You think they're becoming hostile toward boys?

Not all boys, just Chimp. Lately they have been beating the living crap out of him!

WHAM!

WAK! SOCK!

He deserves it, mom! Two of the cutest guys in school called us up and Chimp told them we weren't home.

Now, now. Remember, boys will be boys, Jetty

But he told them we were out buying toilet paper to stuff into our training bras!

Well, that's not the worst thing he could have said.

He also told them that flat-chested women run in our families!

THAT'S the worst thing he could have said!

The problem is, when we moved in together, Allmony agreed to stay home because I told her I was a lousy housekeeper. But I am really a great housekeeper! I just wanted to be a working woman, I lied to Allmony, but I can't possibly tell her now.

Why not?

Because we're only 12 minutes into this episode, and our 30-second "problem resolution and moral segment" doesn't happen for another ten minutes!

Allimony, what's this nonsense about you not being appreciated?

You were unappreciated just fine when we were married! Why go through a messy divorce just to wind up the same way!

That's not funny, Charles! If we wanted laughs we'd click on Monday Night Football and listen to O.J.!

I'm sorry, Mate, but I really feel I have to get a job. I'm alienated by my unrealized potential.

But you're taking some college courses!

Where do you think I learned phrases like "alienated" and "unrealized potential"?

Don't you understand? I've got to do something for me! What's wrong with that, Charles! YOU did something for YOU!

What did I do for me?

You got rid of HER!

We're all ready to go, dad.

Great! Boy, I love our evenings together!

So do we! We can use the "on camera" exposure!

Yeah, going out with you, then making bad jokes about the restaurant, is about as meaty as our roles get on this show!

Charles, I'm having a tough time paying all the bills. Do you think you could voluntarily increase my monthly support payments?

You have a short memory, Allimony. You divorced me because I was boring and non-descript, not because I was stupid!

There's something I've wondered about, Alimony. How come when you and Charless got divorced, he wound up with a big place in Connecticut, and you wound up in this marginal dump in dirty Greenwich Village?!!

I know. It's the worst settlement in divorce history. Live and learn.

What did you learn?

Never hire a divorce lawyer at K-Mart!

Forget it, Alimony. You're never going to find a job. You have no qualifications!

Don't make me laugh!

Don't worry—That's one thing nobody in this house will ever be accused of!

Aha! "Not qualified", am I? Listen to this: "Wanted: Adventurous females 18 to 40. Meet new people. Entertain in your home or client's location. Big money and fun!"

Sounds like they're advertising for hookers.

Eh, forget it. Charless says I'm not qualified for that, either!

Yeah, husbands sure can be rotten! My ex, Jax, was always complaining about my lousy cooking.

Oh, lots of husbands complain about their wives' bad cooking.

During SEX?!

Boy, I really love being a child actor! I've always dreamed of being in a TV sitcom!

Keep dreaming maybe someday you will be!

But this is a sitcom!

Wrong. You have to have some comedy to be a "sit-com". This is just a "sit"!

Actually, this show is so bland, they've established a new category for it—a "sit-coma"!

Come on, Emmy, eat something! You've spent the last 20 minutes pushing your cole slaw around your plate!

I've got news for you! I didn't touch that cole slaw! If it moved, it was moving on its own!

I'll say this for you, Mate. Now that you've taken over the cooking, eating has become a religious experience!

Yeah, the way you cook, we pray before each course!

That's it! I give up! Mate, go back to work, I'll stay home and take care of the housework.

Sounds good to me!

Sounds good to you? Our taste-buds are doing cartwheels!

I thought you were kidding when you said it was a "jungle out there!" I just talked a guy out of stealing my bag by giving him a banana!

I'm sorry I lied to you about me not being a very good housekeeper.

And I'm sorry I resented you for wanting to work.

See, that's what people like about our show. We are real women, who make real mistakes, but remain real, true best friends.

Yeah, and your feet really smell! Why don't you get some real "Odor-eaters"? Enough reality!

That's the only problem with our friendship. We never REALLY clear the air.

You're right! And I think I know a way to help us vent our deepest feelings.

You were terrible in "McMillan And Wife!"

Me? You'd need acting lessons to carry Gilda Radner's makeup!

Oh yeah! You're the only woman who could make Rock Hudson look effeminate!

I heard the name "Not Ready For Prime Time Players", was inspired by your TV career!

Now this is honesty!

Let me at her!!
